

Immediate help for students in need

Mission:

To provide immediate help for secondary students in Washington to improve their attendance, engagement and graduation rates.

More than fifty years of providing immediate help for students in need: Our History

In 1963, Saul Haas (owner and founder of KIRO Radio and Television) had a daughter at Garfield High School and discovered that the critical needs of many low income students were not being met, jeopardizing their ability to stay in school. He began to donate to Garfield and other schools, eventually founding the Saul and Dayee G. Haas Foundation in 1972. In 2009, the foundation transitioned to public charity status and adopted the name InvestED.

Helping students get to school, engage in school and graduate from school: Our Unique Approach

- Help comes from trusted educators who know the student's needs
- Help is immediate
- Help is discrete
- Help is individualized

Partnering with schools statewide: How the InvestED Program Works

- At the beginning of the school year, InvestED provides funding to partner schools. Funds are allocated based on the student population and percentage of students qualifying for the Free and Reduced Lunch program based on their family income.
- During the school year, school personnel trained as InvestED coordinators, help individual students in need. Funds can be used for covering academic testing fees, sports equipment, activity fees, renting musical instruments, field trips, clothing, basic needs and more. (See additional info on back)
- InvestED supports local school fundraising efforts by matching donations through our Matching and Adopt-a-School programs.
- School coordinators provide an annual report on how the money was spent and the demographic data on students served. They also share personal stories of the students impacted by InvestED programs.

2016-2017 School Year Results

 25,245 students	 $924,990 of support
 29,499 disbursements	 660 active schools

How we help

“Some of my best work as a teacher has been the quiet business of supporting students through InvestED funds.”
